Local Welfare Aid Hits $6.5 Million

By Irene Pettyjohn

totalled about $6.5 million — more than the yearly payroll of

According to Department of Social Services' (DSS) statistics, there were 1,646 Crawford County residents receiving some type of public assistance at the end of December, 1989. Of this number, 785 were children and 861 were adults.

Crawford County ranked 11th highest out of the state's 83 counties for the percent of its residents receiving welfare.

"This number represented approximately 17 percent of the county's population," said Robert Porter, director of the Crawford County DSS office. He said as high as these numbers appear, they were down from five years ago, when he said the number of welfare recipients in the county was closer to 2,(XX).

"Three or four years ago, we were at 20 percent population and were ranked fourth in the state," he said.

Porter said 17 percent is still considered high. He said counties varied from three percent all the way to up to 25 percent, with the state average at about 12 percent.

Contrary to recent declines in welfare cases, Porter said Crawford County experienced a marked increase in assistance applications during the last summer.

"Typically our intake load of new applicants and emergencies slows down during the summer months,* he explained, "but last year that didn't happen."

Porter said the summer case load reduction occurs primarily because of seasonal employment.

"We had a good number of people find work," he said, "but we didn't benefit from it." He said the DSS Crawford County office stayed as busy in July and August as it did during January and February, which are considered peak winter months.

"In August, 1989, our office registered 343 applications," said Donna O'Grady, assistance payments supervisor at the Grayling office. "In January, 1989, we registered 286." She said normally, there are about 200 applications processed in

$308,000 Street Project Will Finish 'Tag Ends' in City

A Grayling construction firm was awarded the contract for receiving a new six inch looped water system. the 1990 Grayling city street project by the Grayling City council, on Monday, March 12.

Nick Jorae Excavating's bid of nearly $308,000 was significantly lower than the second lowest bid of $335,560 from McNeilly & Son Contractors from Traverse City. Seven contractors bid on the street construction project.

City manager, Jerry Morford explained that the 1990 street project is different than other projects because it does not deal with a specific area. He categorized the 1990 projects as "tag ends" involving some difficult problems that must be solved before paving is possible. He said none of this year's projects fit in with previous projects.

Construction this spring will effect the following streets: Clare, Vilas, Fig, Ingham (north east and south west portions), AuSable Court, the alley that runs behind Mac's Drug Store, Oliver, Shellenberger, Fulton and Knight streets.

In addition to the usual curbs, gutters, storm drains, subgrading and paving included in all new street construction, Morford said there will be some sanitary sewer upgrading work done at Vilas and Fulton streets, as well as the installation of six inch water lines to replace "old decrepit undersized (probably two inch) water lines". AuSable Court will be because if we are going to pave the street, we want to have what is underneath the pavement in good shape so we do not have to dig it up later." He said the same logic applies to the new larger

Morford said the cost for upgrading the sewer and water lines will be paid for from utility funds and not income tax Construction can begin anytime after April I, but Morford said Jorae will probably not start work until the frost leaves the ground. He said frost laws will not let Jorae move his equipment until the frost is out of the ground and also because it is expensive to dig in frozen ground.

Morford said he hopes to have a completed construction schedule with a projected timetable ready for publication by April 1. He estimated the street project will be completed by

"We did it last year," he said, "Last year's job, in the middle of downtown, went as good as I could ever have expected. We had frustrations," he said, "but all in all it went very well."

Morford said this year's project completes the original street paving program as designed in 1972.

50 More Workers Needed For 1990 Census in County

need of about 50 census workers to count everyone in the county. Persons interested in helping with the 1990 census should contact the local MESC office at the courthouse.

Brian Belford, Manager of U.S. Census District 2473 in Traverse City, said census workers must be 18 years of age. He explained most census workers will receive $5 per hour and work a 35 to 40 hour week. He said the job will begin around March 15 and continue through June or July.

According to Belford, persons receiving social security or financial assistance from the Michigan Department of Social Services can work for the census without their census earnings affecting their benefits, grants or food stamp allotments.

County residents will begin receiving their census forms by mail between March 23 and 29. Answers to the form's questions should reflect facts as of April 1, 1990.

Grayling City Manager, Jerry Morford, said workers will be picking up the census forms between April 1-15. In an effort

Census time is almost here and Crawford County is still in to retrieve every census form, workers have been instructed to make at least seven attempts to collect each form.

"Anyone in the county with a census form that has not been picked up by April 20th can call me at the Grayling City offices," said Morford, "and I will make sure the proper persons are notified and the form is collected."

The short form has 14 questions and will take about ten minutes to complete. The long form, which will go to about every sixth person, has 59 questions and will take about 45 minutes to complete.

Belford said census workers will be looking at the forms to see that all the questions have been answered, and will be able to assist residents with any questions they may have. He said questions about the census form can also be answered by calling 1-800-999-1990. Belford said there will be 20 telephone operators available to answer questions for residents living in Michigan's northern most 22 counties.

"We have the resources to extend our effort beyond May if needs be," said Belford, "to ensure that northern Michigan has as complete a count as humanly possible."

Locally, members of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will be volunteering their assistance in answering questions about the form.

Bill Schultz, who is organizing the AARP effort, said his group was going to try to have volunteers at the Grayling City Hall, the Commission on Aging office and in the Lovells, Frederic and Beaver Creek areas for one morning, one afternoon and on Saturday between March 27 and April 1.

Schultz said dates, times and locations will be published as soon as they have a definite schedule.

Grayling Township Clerk, Monica Ashton, in an effort to see that everyone gets counted, suggested that residents who will be away from home during census time and are having their mail picked up by a friend, instruct their friend to forward the census form to them.

Political representation, federal and state revenue sharing, business and marketing projections, educational improvement programs and regional growth analyses are all determined by head counts.

Old US-27 Corner Receives Traffic Light

Crawford County's newest traffic light was installed February 6 at the corner of Old 27 and North Higgins Lake Drive in Beaver Creek Township.

The new blinker light flashes red for motorists traveling east and west on North Higgins Lake Drive and flashes yellow for Bernie Williams, manager of the North Higgins Lake State Park, located on North Higgins Lake Drive about a quarter of a mile from the intersection, said the corner has a history of bad accidents, some involving campers from his park.

Three people from Portland died last summer when the driver of a semi-truck failed to stop and collided with a car driving on Old 27. The fourth passenger in the car, a 68 year old woman, survived the accident.

"We've had some very bad accidents there over the years," said Williams, who has been at North Higgins Lake State Park for nearly 21 years. "The Crawford County Road Commission tried to resolve the situation by putting up double stop signs while they were waiting for the light to be installed," he said, "but I even saw one driver go through both stop signs without

Williams said that, in his opinion, the light will obviously

Public Meeting Scheduled On New Elementary

The Crawford AuSable School District Board of Education will conduct a public meeting to present information and answer questions regarding a proposed new elementary school the evening of Thursday, March 22, at 7 p.m. in the Grayling Elementary School gymnasium.

Two proposals will appear on the June 11 annual school election ballot: a bond issue requesting authorization for a $5.5 million construction project, and an operational millage issue requesting the funds to operate the new building on an annual basis.

The focus of the construction project will be to provide additional elementary classroom space with a new elementary school for grades K-2 at the Grayling Elementary/Football Field site attached by a central kitchen and separate cafeterias. The Grayling Elementary will be modified for grades 3-5. Appropriate playground and parking spaces and a bus traffic lane for both buildings will be constructed. The new building, if approved, will be ready for the fall of 1991.

Dead Red Pine Trees: Not A New Problem

"Wonder what killed those red pine?" Motorists across Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota are wondering aloud about the dead and dying red pine they've seen scattered across the region in recent months. In fact, the prob-Iem has been in Michigan since at least 1987, when the Department of Natural Resources began keeping a close eye on it. The stage was probably set in 1986 when a very rainy fall season damaged the roots of some red pine trees, according to Frank Sapio, a forest pest specialist with the Department. "This was a particular problem in areas where clay in the soil kept the water from draining away quickly enough," he says. This problem is not new to Michigan trees. Dry summers during the late 70's set the stage for similar problems that killed many trees during the early 80's. But red pines continue to flourish across the state. The reason? "Many of the pest problems we see will fade away once the dry conditions disappear," says Roger Mech, another forest pest specialist with the DNR, "For example, the pine bark beetles which have killed many of the

The DNR is not alarmed by the problem. They are concerned, however, about possible side effects from cutting red pine trees in these areas. Large branches left behind when trees are removed in the spring provide the perfect hiding place for bark beetles. Big Brothers, Big Sisters Needed Here

The Crawford County Sibs for Kids Program is searching for responsible adult volunteers to act as Big Brothers and Big Sisters to our area children from one parent homes. We are not asking you to spend alot of money, but rather to spend some quality time acting as a friend and role-model to one of these children. Past volunteers have found that being a Big Brother or Sister is a rewarding and enjoyable experience. If you are 18 years old or older and feel you have the time to invest assisting one of these children, please contact Sandy Altman at 348-2841 Ext. 262, Monday through Friday.

The AuSable Valley Youth Service Bureau and Crawford County Sibs for Kids are United Way funded agencies.

"The North's Finest" In Downtown Grayling

We have a group of people in our area that are badly in need of entertainment. They are the people in our nursing homes and adult care facilities. A lot of them are bright and alert and find life boring in such places. Most of them have things going on to try to make their days a little brighter, but are badly in need of help in keeping them entertained. I think it would be great if the clubs and groups in this area would organize groups to go around and put on some type of entertainment for them. Remember these people were once the shakers and movers of this area. They deserve more than to be put in these facilities and forgotten by the community.

I think many of us tend to avoid such places. We shouldn't for someday we might find ourselves in the same place. The smiles of these fine folks are plenty of thanks for our efforts. Many of us have some type of talent that would make their days a little brighter. Let's show these fine folks that they are not forgotten, a visit by individuals or groups to entertain is very important to them. If we make them a vital part of the community now, perhaps if the day comes when we are in those circumstances life will be much more pleasant. Please think about it.

This has been a very Tri-ing winter. We have played about a jillion games of Triple Yahtzee and Triominos this winter. To say I am getting tired of them would be the under statement of the year. They helped us pass many hours for us this winter but by now we are ready for a change. Hopefully we can soon get outside to start on our yard work etc. By the time this appears in the paper, March will be about half over and I hope by then we are enjoying some nice warm days.

Did you ever wonder where some of the old expressions came from? For instance the expression Lock, Stock and Barrel for one. In the old days many gun smiths made guns for sale. Some bought their parts, others made their guns, Lock, Stock and Barrel or complete guns. Keep Your Powder Dry is an expression from the days of the flint lock rifle. The small priming charge if it got wet would not fire the gun.

The words that teamsters used to direct their teams are almost forgotten now, a good team could work all day with only the voice commands of the teamsters. Gitup or a chirping sound for go, Whoa for stop, Gee turn right, Haw turn left. It amazed me to see the way the horses on the city milk wagons learned their route. The milkman would get out carrying a basket of milk and the horse would move on down the street to the point where he would need more milk and stop and wait for him. They could cross intersections with traffic lights with no problems. I spent a pleasant hour in Detroit one day just following a milk wagon and watching that horse do its job.

Nevertheless he talks about it. He says that he feels a responsibility to tell his story — so that what happened to his pets does not have to happen to anybody else's.

Rick and his wife Sue had two dogs, Scutterbotch, a sixyear-old fox red Labrador retriever, and Cooter, nearly seven, a golden retriever. So alike in coloring, people thought they were littermates, but actually they belonged to two different

He and his two dogs had a morning routine. He gave them their milk bone biscuits, let them out for ten minutes or so, then brought them in before leaving for work. He trusted them, knew they would not leave his property. But on this morning they did something unusual.

Perhaps it was the slight change in routine. Rick and his wife Sue were caring for a third dog, his sister's. She had just sold her home and was temporarily living in a place which didn't allow pets.

So her Goldie, a ten-month-old beagle mix, was staying with the Shoemakers until she moved into a permanent home.

Worried, Rick left for work, but opened the kennel door so He checked on them through the window and saw them the dogs could get in when they came home. By 10:00 a.m. he returned to check on them. He drove a half mile down Chase Bridge Road where he saw some tracks in the snow. That

Rick is nearly certain that they had been shot elsewhere and brought to this spot. He found no human tracks leading to the dogs and overhead branches were broken, as if they had been thrown through the air, perhaps from the back of a pick-up

That day continues to haunt Rick, "I really don't know what kind of person would do such a thing. Was it an act of vengeance? An incidental thing? Maybe they went into late.

But this was an accidental thing. They just got away this one time. It was a shame, a waste."

"We are pretty upset," he continues. "They were our housepets. We have no children, so they were like kids to us. Cooter was such a good, friendly dog. He was almost my best

By 5:00 p.m., Scutter had come home, alone. Rick called collars and I.D. tags so it's clear that they are not wild. But even so, he insists, "Cooter and Goldie didn't look like feral dogs. You just don't see stray golden retrievers out running around."

bills to keep utility companies from shutting-off services. The Emergency Needs Program can also help to pay off delinquent property taxes to avoid property loss, foreclosure notices, burial of indigent people and emergency home repairs that deal with health and cafety issues such as heating systems, roofs, plumbing and septic problems.

"DSS sets cost caps on heating and utility bills, above what people receive in their monthly grant," explained O'Grady, "and when these caps are met with several months of cold weather left in the winter, people turn to the Emergency Needs Program."

Below normal temperatures and propane gas and fuel oil price increases last December caused some residents to reach their cost cap early in the winter, she said.

"If fuel prices had not doubled and the weather had not been so cold, many of the people now seeking help would probably have stayed within their cap allowance,"she said.

the DSS are General Assistance (GA), Aid to Dependent absence of either parent. Children (ADC), food stamps and Medicaid.

"All of our programs are based on need," explained O'Grady. "There is no automatic entitlement such as social security where benefits are there when a person reaches a certain age."

GA eligibility requires a person to be without income and possess less than $250 in assets such as money in a savings or checking account, real estate (other than home), snowmobiles, stocks and bonds, etc. At the end of December, 1989, there were 165 adults and 40 children in Crawford County partici- other DSS requirements. pating in the GA program.

without dependent children. Recipients receive payments twice monthly based on family size, obligations such as heat. shelter, utilities and personal needs. It is a state funded Recipients can opt to pay their bills directly or have DSS vendor the payments directly to the landlord or utility company. Porter said only in cases of gross money mismanagement, where the loss of residence and the health and safely of children is jeopardized, does DSS step in and vendor directly without a request from the recipient.

Ninety-nine percent of all requests for DSS to pay bills come voluntarily from the welface recipient, said Porter.

868 PERSONS RECEIVE ADC

The ADC program is a federally funded program, designed to protect dependent children under 18 years of age from deprivation based on one or more of the following situations: unemployment of one parent, incapacitation of a parent as The four main types of welfare programs administered by determined by DSS medical review team, and the continued

O'Grady explained that ADC eligibility is quite complicated, for example, she said the definition of unemployment does not just mean being out of work. To be considered unemployed, an applicant must have been connected with the work force as defined by DSS.

Once an individual meets one or more of these requirements, they must then meet DSS's income and assets guidelines, citizenship and residency requirements, if able to work, applicants must agree to an employment training program, participate with monthly reporting activities and comply with various

Last December 868 persons (531 children and 337 adults) received ADC payments.

ADC payments are similar to GA payments. In addition to the family's basic needs, the programs includes money for special needs such as day care for employment purposes, medical transportation, and a $14 a month payment called an "unborn allowance" to pregnant women for prenatal nutritional needs.

Fifty-four percent of all GA and ADC cases contribute some money towards their monthly grant. He said this percentage is higher in northern Michigan than in the southern counties. Porter said he suspects that this occurs simply because of the differences in the volume of cases.

"Where we work with hundreds of cases," he said, "southern Michigan works with thousands."

Reported income is considered when the amount of an applicant's grant is determined.

600 RECEIVE FOOD STAMPS

Food stamp eligibility is based on income and assets. The amount of stamps to be given depends on income, obligations and family size.

"Food stamps are traditionally not considered a welfare or public assistance program," said Porter. "It is a nutritional program out of the Department of Agriculture. Originally," he continued, "it was designed to make sure that the average citizen on the street had access to proper nutrition programs, but too often it is viewed as a welfare program."

Porter said the food stamp program is the only program administered by DSS that is not financed by Health and Human Services. It is funded by the Dept. of Agriculture.

Approximately 600 households in the county receive food

"This number includes ADC and GA recipients," said Porter, "as well as some persons receiving medical assistance."

MEDICAID BENEFITS TOTAL $2.5 MILLION

Porter and O'Grady agreed that Medicaid is the most expensive and most difficult program administered by the DSS.

The program consists of 14 different categories of eligibility. O'Grady explained that last December, these categories provided financial assistance for 183 aged, blind and disabled persons as determined by social security's SSI program who then became eligible for Medicaid, 80 persons over 65 based solely on age and resources, 73 families not poor enough for ADC but fell within Medicaid guidelines and 31 disabled persons not included in the social security program, but that fell within the state's less stringent guidelines. She said the newest Medicaid program was designed for pregnant women and their unborn children and can be applied for through either the DSS office or the County Health Department. In December there were 33 pregnant women and 49 infants enrolled in this Medicaid program.

"The idea behind this program is to make prenatal care available to more individuals in an effort to decrease infant mortality," said Porter.

ADC Medicaid is divided into two categories: ADC regular, which includes 223 adults and 391 children, can include an absent parent or an incapacitated parent, although O'Grady said most qualify because of an absent parent. The second category is for unemployed parents and includes 114 adults and 140 children.

As of December 31, 1989, there were 1,441 persons in Crawford County receiving some form of Medicaid assistance, at a cost of nearly $2.5 million.

Even with Medicaid's large budget O'Grady pointed out that the program does not cover a large segment of the county's low income health needs.

AGES 21-65 SLIP THROUGH

"People who really have a problem with Medicaid," explained O'Grady, "are the people over 21 and under 65 that have no dependent children in the home. It doesn't matter if they have no income whatsoever," she said, "there is no

Medicaid program for them unless they are disabled." "A national health care system is an important issue for both Health and Human Services and the state," said Porter. "Right now they keep adding new variations of Medicaid for us to implement in the field and consequently a whole new category of people are eligible now that even a year ago were not.

He said Governor Blanchard has proposed the "Healthy Start" program that would provide additional medical benefits to children based on a family's income. He said the proposal is receiving some opposition from legislators who are asking how Blanchard intends to pay for the new program if no new

The DSS is divided into two categories: public assistance, and services. Next week we will examine the DSS education and training component and a low income day care program that are designed to help people prepare for and achieve employment status and help with the high cost of day care.

SPORTS FANS! I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You By Cliff Wheeler Sales Representative

Here's an oddity about the head coach who led the San Francisco 49ers to the Super Bowl championship in 1990, George Selfert... As successful as Seifert has been with the 49ers, just the opposite was true when he was a college head coach... He won only 6 games as a college head coach -- and lost 181... Seifert coached one year at Westminster College in Utah where he was 3-3, then coached 2 years at Cornell in the lvy League where he won 3 and lost 15.

Surprisingly, when first basketball tournament was held, in interest, that Tournament drew a crowd of only 1,489.

In the entire history of big league baseball, only one pitcher ever pitched in over 100 games in a season... That record was set by Mike Marshall of the Dodgers in 1974... Marshall pitched in 106 games that year.

1 bet you didn't know... that during our sale we have specials like this. A new Chevy Cavaller with Air Conditioning, Rustproofed, and its a jazzy little fuel injected front drive car. All for $7995 after manufacturers rebatel. Only one of these left! Hurry in!

This means the adult the operator, if necessary.

Dizziness and Vertigo

are not drinking safe water.

From a historical stand

Dizziness and vertigo are not illnesses in and of themselves. They are symptoms: signals from your body that your balance mechanism is not functioning properly. Most people find it difficult to put into words the feeling they have during a "dizzy" episode. People often describe the sensation as whirling or spinning, tumbling or falling, earthquake-like ground rolling, light-headedness, giddiness, faintness, etc. Dizziness is a general term that encompasses all of these sensations. Vertigo is a specific kind of dizziness where one feels a sense of motion even though none is taking place, or feels an exaggerated sensation to some small movement. The term vertigo is often incorrectly used to mean fear of heights (acrophobia). Vertigo usually feels like a spinning or turnwould feel on an amusement park ride. While dizziness has many causes, vertigo usually indicates a problem with the inner ear or the balance centers of the brain stem.

Wealth

Some men in their quest for wealth Work long and hard each day With no time to spend with friends and family As they go along in their hurried way

A luxury car, a big bank account A big mansion, are their goals in life He's like a stranger to his children He had no time to spend with his wife

He thinks himself a good family man As he provides for their every want and need When the children go to him with a problem He has no time to pay them heed

He is so busy providing the good life That they have no life at all They have no pleasant time together No good memories to recall

When he finally reaches his goal in life Decides it's time he should slow down His children are living their own lives His wife's hair is gray not brown

They're too old to do much traveling They have few memories to share The children visit now and then But they just don't seem to care

When he sees the close knit families Among the folks he looks on as poor Some how all the wealth he gained Doesn't seem important any more

The Bible Speaks

Message To Disciples

The resurrected Lord appeared to His disciple with a seven-fold message of resurrection peace. First, His presence was the personification same day at even, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus still meet Sunday, the first day Him. of the week to worship our Lord Jesus Christ. He is still in our midst. (Matthew 18:20).

Second, was His proclamation of peace: "...and saith unto them, Peace be unto you." This was His message in John 14:27 and the result was to be lives free from trouble and fear. Yet, the disciples were found by their Lord, huddled in fear.

Third, was His proof of peace: "And when he had so said, he shewed unto them his hands and his side." (John 20:20a). These wounds provide eternal proof our salvation has been accomplished, and our peace is assured. Fourth, was His pleasure of peace: "...Then were the disof peace, v. 19A. "Then the ciples glad, when they saw the Lord." (John 20:20b) Faith in the factual evidence of the resurrection of Jesus Christ should give us the greatest peace and pleasure, knowing and stood in the midst..." > peace: "Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you." (John 20:21). On Wings Of Faith

Have you ever watched children flying their new kites on a blustery Saturday in early March? A myriad of colors, shapes and sizes sail through the sapphire sky. Excitement fills the air. Many of those children spent their entire allowance on a kite, for they knew March was finally here. They had faith in that magical wind. They invested all they had in that unseen force, believing that it would bring them hours of joy.

God, like the wind, is an unseen force. If we have faith in Him and invest in this faith by giving our lives to Him, He will renew us with His strength, and our lives will take on new

If you will visit God's house this week with the faith of a small child. He will not disappoint you, for in Isaiah 40:31 God promises us we "... will soar on wings like eagles...
